◆ BIOGRAPHY

The Gold Standard

The Gold Standard is a nine-piece funk revue built for exactly one thing: making a room move.

Two lead vocalists out front, a four-piece horn section that hits like a wall, and a rhythm section that simply refuses to quit — the band has spent years turning festivals, weddings, and corporate nights into the loudest, sweatiest party on the calendar. Their debut EP, CUT THE CHECK, bottles that live energy across five tracks, but the reputation was made on stage, where a set runs on horns, harmonies, and a flat refusal to let anyone sit down.

Ten minutes in, the whole room was on its feet — and stayed there.
